

Blakes Receive HVCA membership certificate

Blakes managing director Tony Ellerker receives the prestigious HVCA membership certificate in the November meeting, issued by HVCA president Martin Burton.

Gaining membership to the leading industry contractor association means Blakes has met and surpassed the strict criteria and standards set down by the HVCA, being a member requires the contractor to be externally audited on a regular basis by BM Trada, BM Trada will go through the companies policies and procedures to ensure compliance, within the auditing process, policies such as health & safety are examined, financial stability of the company and correct customer procedures are reviewed.

The final procedure should all the above be compliant is for a routine check for the quality of Blakes installation work, with further checks being carried out whilst being a member.

Managing Director Tony Ellerker said “it’s been a hard and testing process to go through, but being a member of such a prestigious association should give our customers complete confidence with our services, whilst showing Blakes are a professional and responsible contractor”
